Notification received:

BIOWASTE COMPOSTING NOTIFICATION

You must notify the waste management authority if you compost biowaste. You do not need to submit a notification if you only compost garden waste. More information: www.tampere.fi/en/composting

You can also submit the notification through the waste management authority's online service: www.asioin.fi.

You will receive a response to your notification. An approved notification is valid for a specified period. If you continue composting after this period, submit a new notification. If you stop composting before the validity period ends, notify the waste management authority.

Grounds for processing the notification

If food biowaste is composted on the property, the composter must be:

- designed for composting food biowaste
- closed, sturdy and well ventilated
- protected against pests (no gaps larger than 7 mm)
- large enough, taking into account that composting slows down during the colder seasons.

The composter must be placed and maintained so that it does not cause litterig or harm to health, the environment, or the neighbours. The composter must not be used for disposing of any parts of invasive plants that are capable of reproducing, or waste that interferes the composting process or the use of the composting soil.

Compost must not be removed from the composter before the waste has decomposed. If necessary, the compost may be post-composted. Composting soil must be used on the property. The Bokashi treatment always requires post-composting.

The composter may also be used jointly by neighbouring properties or apartments. Each household using a shared composter must submit its own composting notification. A responsible person must be appointed for the shared composter.

The information provided in the notification will be recorded in the waste management authority's register. For the privacy notice and more information: www.tampere.fi/tietosuoja

Composting information will be provided to Pirkanmaan Jätehuolto. If necessary, improper composting will be reported to the environmental protection authority.
